GOOD A

Where did that vocabulary come from it's original?

Thank you I appreciate that. Me being a young mustache in the game coming up you dig what I'm sayin'. I'm from the Bay Area there is a whole bunch of hustlas and slick talkers. Just me being a young hustla and I observed you dig what I'm sayin'? You know just being from around that area, you gotta realize that you got to realize that really you surrounded by cats that really know how to pop their P's. They shot the movie the Mack in Oakland that was really real pimps in that movie. You feel me? They were showing Max Julien how to get down as a pimp he did an excellent job. I don't consider myself a pimp or nothing like that but me being around all that you actually grow into it. You know me using colorful words you know what I mean? That's slang that's the Bay Area that's what we really do and we really are. That's how we really talk I'm not the only one who talks like that. I am one of a kind this what hustlas do poppin' our Ps like this. That's where slang comes from the Bay Area.

It seems like a lot of homies are biting on your words you feel me? What about Mac Dre?

He knew how to pop his Ps. He from Vallejo on the other side of town. We from the land where they pop they collas you smell me? People run away with out slang you know because they feel they can. They got the outlets. We ahead of its time it takes a while for people get used to it and that's us, the Bay Area. That's why cats get a load of our swagger or slang, and then television because they got the outlets, the big television networks or it hits the Grammys rise all the other people make it look like it came from them. While all the time it came from us. It doesn't matter if it comes from us or other rappers use it at least pay homage to Bay Area and E-40. They thing their albums won't keep sellin' if they don't pay homage to the Bay. The games bigger than they claim to be.

The Bay is great what about Too Short, Luniz, yourself Mac Dre who did you grow up vibin on?
